EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

THE OFFERING

Cambridge Court is a well-maintained, family-oriented community located in Stockton, offering investors durable cash flow, below-market financing, and long-term affordability-backed stability. The property is fully occupied with a documented four-year waiting list, underscoring sustained demand and consistent in-place performance.

Built in 1996, Cambridge Court features high-quality, low-maintenance construction and a desirable unit mix comprised exclusively of two-, three-, and four-bedroom floor plans with an average unit size of approximately 1,172 square feet. All residences include in-unit washer and dryers, and the community is further supported by covered parking and a comprehensive amenity package including a park-like setting, walking paths, picnic and barbecue areas, basketball court, tot lots, fitness center, clubhouse, leasing office, and swimming pool.

The asset benefits from meaningful income upside through Section 8 vouchers. The current rent roll includes 17 Section 8 tenants, which generate rents above LIHTC maximums while remaining compliant with affordability restrictions. Ownership has the opportunity to work with remaining residents to transition additional households onto vouchers, providing a clear path for incremental revenue growth.

Cambridge Court is encumbered by a 55-year LIHTC affordability agreement expiring in 2051 and a City of Stockton affordability covenant through 2035. In exchange, the property qualifies for a full ad valorem property tax exemption, materially enhancing NOI and long-term cash flow durability. Investors may also assume existing in-place financing at an attractive 5.09% fixed interest rate.

Strategically positioned within a commutable radius to both the Bay Area and Sacramento, Stockton continues to attract residents seeking affordability near major employment hubs. Large-scale job creation is underway at the Prologis International Park of Commerce in nearby Tracy, which is planned for 19.5 million square feet of industrial development and up to 36,000 jobs at full buildout. Future transportation infrastructure improvements, including planned expansion of the Altamont Corridor Express and a proposed rail connection to BART, are expected to further enhance regional connectivity and housing demand across the Stockton–Sacramento corridor.

INVESTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

Section 8 Voucher Upside

The current rent roll has 17 Section 8 tenants, which feature a significant gain-to-lease over the LIHTC maximum rent and complies with the affordability agreement. There is an opportunity to work with the remaining tenants to get on section 8 vouchers to further increase income.

Partially built in Tracy, California, the Prologis International Park of Commerce is planned for 19.5 million square feet of industrial space and will provide 36,000 jobs at full capacity.

ACE-BART Connection with Extension to Sacramento

The Altamont Corridor Express (ACE) is planning an extension from Stockton to Sacramento. Concomitantly, the Tri-Valley-San Joaquin Valley Regional Rail Authority has been formed and funded by the governor to connect Stockton ACE to BART. The enhanced rail network will reduce the commute into the Bay Area, generating significant demand throughout the Stockton-Sacramento Valley.

MARKET OVERVIEW

Stockton, CA

Stockton is one of the Central Valley's most strategically positioned cities, offering direct connectivity to major Northern California job hubs including Sacramento, the Tri-Valley, and the East Bay. The city benefits from strong population density and a diversified economic base supported by logistics, healthcare, education, manufacturing, and government employment. Key employment anchors such as Amazon, St. Joseph's Medical Center, Kaiser Permanente, Safeway's distribution operations, and the Port of Stockton drive steady workforce housing demand throughout the region.

North Stockton, where Cambridge Court is located, is known for its established residential neighborhoods, abundant retail amenities, and proximity to major transportation corridors including Interstate 5, Highway 99, and the ACE Rail system. The area continues to experience targeted investment, with new commercial development, infrastructure improvements, and growing interest from advanced manufacturing, sustainable energy, and technology-related companies. As rising home prices push ownership further out of reach for many households, high-quality rental housing in accessible locations like North Stockton remains a compelling choice for long-term residents and commuters alike.
